Like a little white rose bud, she came into this world. I held her and watched the pedals unfold into a beautiful person. She blossomed and grew to be a wonderful and thoughtful woman, a full blown white rose. Now she shines and glows as a little soul of God again, back to where she came from. She will remain in my everyday thoughts until I can be with her again some day. My little sweetpea.

I give you this one thought to keep -I am with you still - I do not sleep.I am a thousand winds that blow,I am the diamond glints on snow,I am the sunlight on ripened grain,I am the gentle autumn rain.When you awaken in the morning's hush,I am the sweet uplifting rush,of quiet birds in circled flight.I am the soft starts that shine at night.Do not think of me as gone -I am with you still in each new dawn.- Traditional Native American PrayerI love you Mom. I will miss you everyday but, I know you will be there with me. Thank you for being my best friend. I won't say good-bye...I know I'll see you again. Love, Sally

I love you Grandma!! I'm so glad I got to talk to you before you passed. You have been more than a grandma to me. You've been a best friend, a full support system, and a grandmother all in one! I will always remember our long talks, beach visits, and how we would go through all your jewelry while watching the jewelry networks on tv. :) I know how proud you are of me and I will continue making you proud by going to school and getting my doctorate in nursing someday. We had an amazing bond. You taught me how to put on make-up, fix my hair and nails, and taught me so much about jewelry! You're beautiful, Grandma! I still want you there for my wedding, the birth of my children, their first days of school, everything, just like we talked about before...and I know you will be in spirit. Miss you already! RIP
