In going thru some old cards the other day I found one Sue had sent us at Christmas. My husband and her were dealing with their cancer treatments at the same time last year. I hope this doesn't upset the family writing this so long after her passing but I just wanted to say what a sweet, funny, wonderful and beautiful person she was to us. We only had the pleasure of knowing her a very short time but it left an impression neither my husband nor I will ever forget. Our thoughts and prayers go out to you all during these next few months as the Holidays always seem to be the hardest when we have lost a loved one.

Words do not exist that can capture the amount of love, respect, and admiration that I have for you. You were such an incredible mother and an incredible woman, and you were my best friend. I am blessed to have so many memories of amazing times spent with you. I miss you so much, and I know that I always will--there was never anything life could throw at me that wasn't made a little easier to deal with just by talking it through with you. When I felt like a crazy person, you told me I was sane...or told me I was crazy but that you loved me anyway. I will miss your sense of humor, listening to music with you, watching you flirt with any and everyone, even though your 'husband doesn't let you date,' giving you a hard time for befriending strangers everywhere possible. You had the biggest heart, and plainly put, you knew how to live. I only hope that I can someday be half the woman you were. I love you, mom.

I have never in my life met someone as vibrant, caring and loving as Sue. She loved every single soul she came in contact with. She was my mother's best friend, and helped her get through some hard times. I'll always be grateful to her for that. Every time I would see Sue, she would tell me how beautiful I looked, even if I just crawled out of bed! She could lift you up no matter how down and out you felt. I'll never forget her, she really was one-of-a-kind. I'm thankful that she has such a wonderful family that will take care of one another. God bless you Sue! We will miss you terribly.

Sue and i first met at L.C.C.C. where we went to college together and graduated in1992. She quickly became a good friend. I knew from the first day that I met her that she was a unique person. She always was so inspiring. She knew just the right words to say to pick you up, when life was throwing those curve balls. There were many times that we laughed together, cried together, and just hugged each other, to get throw lifes ups and downs. Sue was a generous, loving, and kind person. She never knew a stranger. She was my inspiration. I only hope that I could be half the person she was. She wore many hats;wife, mother, grandmother,nurse,beloved friend. My heart-felt condolences to all her family and friends who knew and loved her dearly. She will truly be missed by all ! Denise Evans and Family
